

The following sentence contains every letter of the alphabet ... no surprising you by now! So, this exercise has you writing your abc's without knowing it. It's the medicine-in-the-applesauce method of writing your abc's.

Queen Victoria always looked on the clearance rack
for wide-bottom jeans with extra zippers.

Day 1: Queen Victoria always looked on the clearance rack
for wide-bottom jeans with extra zippers.

Day 2: Queen Victoria always looked on the clearance rack
for wide-bottom jeans with extra zippers.

Day 3: Queen Victoria always looked on the clearance rack
for wide-bottomed jeans with extra zippers.

Day 4: Queen Victoria always looked on the clearance rack
for wide-bottomed jeans with extra zippers.

Day 5: Queen Victoria always looked on the clearance rack
for wide-bottomed jeans with extra zippers.

Day 6: Queen Victoria always looked on the clearance rack
for wide-bottomed jeans with extra zippers.

Day 7: Queen Victoria always looked on the clearance rack
for wide-bottomed jeans with extra zippers.